0% Formaldehyde* Committed to well-being

California 93120
Compliant Formaldehyde Phase 2

Actiu has implemented a pioneering measure in Europe, incorporating MDF 0% formaldehyde as standard throughout its product range and not just in particular batches.

The absence of this harmful compound, which increases the risk of certain diseases, complies with the American Toxic Substances Control Act which promotes the health of occupants of work environments, as well as helping to attain WELL certification.

In this way, Actiu products, manufactured in a sustainable environment that promotes well-being such as the Actiu Technology Park, provide a new added value to equip more people-friendly workplaces.

* All Actiu products manufactured with raw particleboard and thermofused laminate surfaces are certified according to the emission standards established by the US EPA TSCA Title VI and Phase 2 of the CARB (California Air Resources Board).

This document may vary as for finishes and models that had been made specially for the project. Please check with Actiu.*

Protective Screens

by Actiu

“During these uncertain times, it is essential to create sustainable and healthy working environments. The layout of the space and furniture and the way the work is organised, together with aspects such as water, lighting, movement, temperature, materials and air quality, have an important impact on our mental health and social interactions. In fact, if these factors are not taken into consideration, or implemented badly, they may seriously affect workers’ health”
